

QI Productions Announces Expansion

For Immediate Release

For Information, Contact:
Nicole Vasquez
Marketing & PR
Conference Division
Ph. 312.822.8100
NVasquez@Q1productions.com

June 5, 2006 - QI Productions is pleased to announce the expansion of their production, sales and marketing teams into a larger office space, located at:

500 North Dearborn Street
Suite 530
Chicago, IL, 60610
NEW Main Line: 312.822.8100

The new office is located in the historic Boyce Building, constructed by William D. Boyce, the well-known Chicago architect of the early 20th Century.

Managing Director Joanne Buckley comments, "The new space provides us with the ability to continue the growth of the team, broadening our reach within the market and enabling us to provide greater service to existing clients.

Throughout the remainder of the year we aim to diversify our product range within the life science market as well as moving into the Healthcare industry with the introduction of our Executive Alliance Forums."

QI continues to deliver high-quality management of events for the life science industry, and has received an overwhelming amount of praise from the attendants which can be read on the Our Successes page at <http://www.q1productions.com/success.html>.

About QI Productions:

QI Productions' Business Intelligence platforms attract decision makers and key executives with decades of experience across all vertical markets and geographic regions to combine insight, imagination and initiative. Our conferences, in house training classes, custom seminars, workshops and exhibitions emphasize trends and technology developments that foster intellectual capital and strategic initiatives at the speed of business.

To learn more about upcoming programs that QI Productions is hosting, visit our Event Calendar at: <http://www.q1productions.com/eventsCal.html>